

Inspiration Point Rules and Regulations

Background:

Inspiration Point is located on the escarpment at the southerly edge of Loghill Mesa in Ouray County, Colorado, and enjoys spectacular views of the northern San Juan Mountains, the valleys and ranchlands below, and the nearby town of Ridgway. Inspiration Point is nestled in the quiet Loghill village residential area and used primarily by Loghill residents, with occasional use from others willing to undertake the serpentine drive from the valley floor to Loghill Mesa.

A covered picnic area with tables is available, but there are no restrooms, trash containers, electricity, running water, or other facilities. There are residences nearby. There is limited parking on the adjacent road. There are natural hazards at Inspiration Point, including steep drop-offs, unstable rocks, wildlife, wildfire potential, and others. The area is not suitable for use for lengthy periods of time or by large groups of people or by unsupervised children.
